

Trigger Logic:

A trigger is a conditional order, meaning something has to happen in order to cause the trigger to execute.

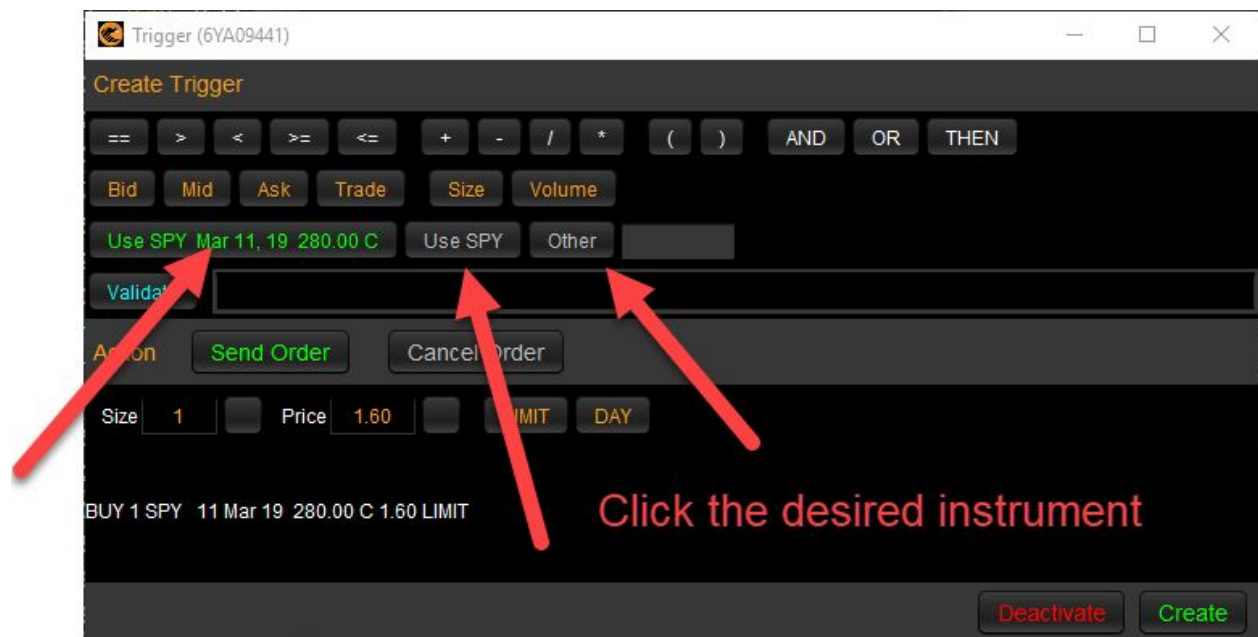

For options or spreads:

1. Fill in the appropriate trading ticket with your desired trade (option or spread).
2. For options, click the Trigger Buy or Trigger Sell depending on whether you want to buy the option in question or sell it:

1. click the option's bid or ask to send to ticket.
2. choose Trigger Buy or Trigger Sell to set up your Trigger Order

3. Once your Trigger ticket is opened, use the appropriate instrument for your condition (the option itself, the underlying stock, or another symbol. The option itself is the default. To choose another instrument, click it:

4. Create your logic. Let's use an example. Above we are interesting in buying the SPY Mar 11, 2019 Call for 1.60 as shown above.

- Click Use SPY
- Choose Bid Mid Ask or Trade to define what part of the SPY has to violate a price threshold
- Choose greater, less, etc to define the zone.
- Add the price of the SPY desired

- Use the Limit Button below the Action Section to set how the order goes out to the market place: Market, Limit, Limit at Bid, Limit at Mid, Limit at Ask.
- Click the Create button

In the Order Panel, double click the “send trigger” space to modify your Trigger Order. To cancel, click the red “X” beside the order.
